A bad day at River City High

'Food fight' in cafeteria precedes three other fights; principal gets concussion trying to help break things up

■ Students lose some privileges and two dozen of them are suspended after both food and punches are thrown last week

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

River City principal STUART MacKAY: hurt breaking up a fight last Wednesday on the high school campus

One food fight, three physical altercations, 24 suspensions and one principal with a concussion: that's the tally from a rough couple of hours last Wednesday on the River City High School campus.

The campus was experimenting with a single lunch period for all students – the entire student body was having lunch at the same time. The usual practice has been to split the students into two lunch periods. After the fighting Wednesday, the campus has returned to the practice of holding two different lunch periods, reports Principal Stuart MacKay.

MacKay was home with a concussion on Monday. The News-Ledger requested an interview with him, and the superintendent of Washington Unified School District, Steven Lawrence, asked for that interview to take place by email. MacKay and other staff members answered questions from the newspaper by email.

MacKay (pronounced "MacKye") said he hopes to be back at work "as soon as possible." He finished his workday after the fighting on Wednesday, but saw a doctor afterwards and on Monday was waiting to be cleared to return.

How did he get hurt?

"I was breaking up a fight and got knocked down," he wrote.

Was he directly targeted by the student who knocked him down?

"The investigation is continuing with all possible leads," said the district's emailed response. "The principal was trying to separate students who did not want to be separated and got knocked down."

A district official said "there was no apparent connection between the food fight and the physical altercations" that followed it.

"After the food fight ended, the cafeteria was cleared out, and students went out on the quad," said the district. "There was a nine minute span between the end of the food fight and the first fight by the H building."

The three different altercations that followed the food fight were described as "a fight between two boys whose tempers flared," a "second fight. . . when students engaged in a fight that was a continuation from an encounter on the previous weekend" and a third altercation "where one punch was thrown between two other students unrelated to the other two altercations."

How many students were involved in the fighting?

"(From) all incidents together we have suspended 24 students in relation to the food fights or fights at lunch on 10/28/2009," said the district.

Does anybody face expulsion?

"We are taking appropriate disciplinary action," said WUSD.

Police responded "within minutes," said WUSD, and remained on campus to keep the peace after the fighting.

There have been no arrests to date, and no one besides MacKay was seriously hurt, added the district officials.

Were gangs or race a factor in the fights?

"There were three different altercations that stemmed from different motivations in each case," was the WUSD answer.

Staff moved quickly to quell the fighting, said WUSD:

"All of the administrators and campus supervisors broke the fights up quickly. Students were sent back to class. Teachers came out and were helpful getting students into the classrooms."

Students lost some privileges after the incidents on Wednesday – including permission to use personal electronic devices like cell phones and music players during lunch. But "homecoming" activities, including a dance, haven't been canceled.

Students "have returned to the exemplary behavior they exhibited before this incident," said WUSD.

How often do conflicts of this magnitude happen at RCHS?

"Since moving to the new campus (in January) we have not had any major incidents," said WUSD. "In fact, this year our suspension rate was significantly decreased."

Neighbors help replace what was lost

Last Thursday, a fire destroyed most of the clothing and household goods that made up a life for the Calva family, residents of a mobilehome park on West Capitol Avenue. But within a few days, fellow residents of West Sacramento gave most of these things back to them.

The family of Maricela Ramos and Rafael Calva escaped the blaze. And they were lucky enough to have been already preparing to

The family is standing in front of the ruined mobilehome that was their house until it was destroyed in a blaze on Thursday. The dog held by Edgar was one of two in the family's trailer when fire broke out -- but the dog escaped injury (the second dog was treated for injury). (News-Ledger photo)

Man shot to death on Jasmine Avenue

Sheriff's deputies pick up suspect near Woodland after the killing on Tuesday

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A man was shot to death on Jasmine Avenue yesterday afternoon.

Police responded to the report of a "man down" on the 400-block of Jasmine at 12:33 p.m., reported Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department. They found an adult male with a single gunshot wound to the abdomen. He was transported to the UC Davis Medical Center in Sacramento, where he was pronounced dead.

Meanwhile, witnesses gave a detailed description of the shooting suspect, his vehicle, and his direction of travel. After the description was broadcast, a suspect was spotted by Yolo County Sheriff's deputies and stopped without incident on Old River Road, near County Road 102 in Woodland.

Police arrested 29-year old Christopher Allen Smith of West Sacramento. Smith's seven-year old son was in the car at the time.

What happened on Jasmine Avenue?

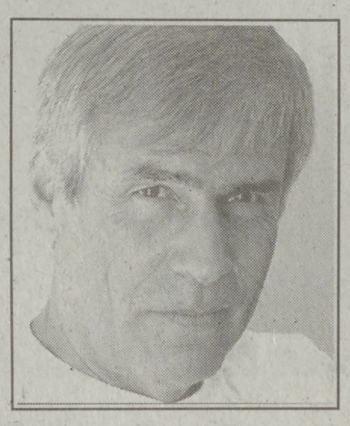
"It was an altercation of some kind," said Sockman. "A gun was pulled out and the suspect shot the victim one time. We have not recovered the gun yet."

The victim's identity was being withheld pending notification to family members.

The suspect, Smith, lives in a different part of the city, said Sockman, and it was yet unknown what brought him to the Jasmine Avenue location.

Did you ever want to be a tugboat captain?

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Note: Longtime West Sacramento and Clarksburg resident John Lucas, an old friend of mine from Little League days, dropped by my house the other day for a little visit. The last I had heard, John was off somewhere in China (it turns out he was constructing windmills over there) and it was great to see and talk to him again. And our little chat also reminded me of the following column, which is a favorite of mine, made possible by John allowing me to be a tugboat captain for a few hours on a bright, sunny West Sacramento morning more years ago than I care to count:

A friend of mine who owns his own marine construction company recently showed up at my front door early in the morning and said, "I hear you've got the day off. Would you be interested in giving me a hand out on the river for a few hours?"

"Sure," I said, although I wasn't exactly overflowing with confidence in my ability to assist someone in the construction business. "What kind of job are you working on?"

John explained that he needed to take some heavy equipment he had been renting off one of his barges, and to do that, he had to float the barge a few miles down the Sacramento River to a boat landing where he could then use a huge crane which was also on the barge to off-load the equipment.

"But what do you want me to do?" I asked, sure that I would be of absolutely no early help to anyone involved in such a project.

"I just need someone to operate the tugboat," John said matter-of-factly.

"Tugboat?" I asked with a smile. "You've got to be kidding. You want to turn me loose on the Sacramento River with your tugboat?"

"I can do the rest of it," explained John, "but it would really help to have someone operate the tug."

Knowing John as I do, I was pretty sure he could actually handle the whole thing all by himself and that he was just trying to include me in a little river outing on a beautiful fall morning, but what he didn't know was that even since I can remember, I've always wanted to get behind the wheel of a tugboat!

First, a little history. When I was young, there used to be this popular weekly television show, the name of which I have long forgotten, but it starred an actor named Robert Preston (I think) and he played the role of a really cool tugboat captain. Plus his tugboat was named the Cheryl Ann, which also happened to be the first and middle names of my twin sister.

Every week, this Robert Preston guy would have all these wild and spine-tingling adventures involving his tugboat. He was always ramming the bad guys with the Cheryl Ann and beating the heck out of big, burly sailors who said or did the wrong thing. And even though he didn't have a big "S" on his chest, he was obviously the Superman of the waterways, and I was absolutely determined to grow up to be a brave, virile tugboat captain just like him.

Anyway, by the time John and I reached his tugboat and the barge it was supposed to push down the river, the sun was already warm on our backs and I was having a great time. He took me up to the bridge, showed me how to work the controls, and even gave me a crash course on the hand signals he would be giving me from the deck of the barge. "It'll be a piece of cake," he assured me as he hurried off to do all the hard work necessary to get us underway.

Suddenly, there I was, Tugboat Captain Daryl Fisher, smack dab in the middle of the mighty Sacramento River, pushing a giant barge which was easily capable of destroying any dock or pleasure boat in its path. And even though I had already forgotten the meaning of half the hand signals John kept flashing me, I somehow managed to keep the barge moving in the general direction of the boat landing, and my belief that I could have indeed been one of the all-time great tugboat captains continued to grow by leaps and bounds with every fun minute that passed.

Just before we reached our destination, I noticed a couple of old men on a fishing boat looking over at me with awe, obviously convinced that I knew exactly what I was doing. Not wanting to disappoint them, I nodded confidently in their directions and only wished John's tugboat had one of those really loud, deep-voiced foghorns that Robert Preston always used to toot a half-dozen or so times when people came too close to his beloved Cheryl Ann.

Much to my surprise, I somehow managed to push the barge right up to the foot of the boat landing and after John had secured everything, he jumped into the cab of the crane and began unloading the heavy equipment.

"You did it," I said to myself as I leaped to land from the side of the barge to get a better look at what John was doing. And best of all, I thought to myself, you didn't make a fool of yourself even once!

"Okay, Daryl," said John about 15 minutes later, "you better bet back on board now. We're about ready to go."

Then it suddenly dawned on me that although jumping down off the barge had been relatively easy, getting back on the darn thing was going to be a much bigger challenge.

"John," I said, "could you bend down here and give me a hand? I'll put my foot on the side of the barge and you can pull me up."

"I don't know," said John with concern. "That's quite a distance. You sure you can make it?"

"Are you kidding?" I said, positive that Robert Preston would have never even given the matter a second thought.

So, I began to jump, and John began to pull, and my foot began to slide, and John's hand began to slip, and before I knew it, I was up to my chest in the muddy, ice-cold water of the Sacramento River. And John, who had absolutely refused to let go of my hand until the very last second, ended up somersaulting over my head and crashing down on the rock-hard pier with a loud thud.

After we had assured each other that we were okay, and as I stood there in the chilly river, wet from head to toe and shivering with acute embarrassment, I happened to spot the two old fishermen who had been watching my every move. Not only were they laughing their head's off, but I'm pretty sure I heard one of them say to the other, "Robert Preston he definitely ain't!"

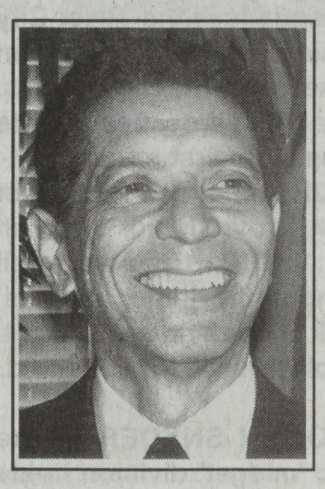
SPORTS INSIDER



By Richard Novoa

The World Series is everything you could ask for in the October Classic as the best of seven series moves up Interstate 95 to New York City with the Yankees leading the defending champion Phillies - three games to two. The weather forecast on Wednesday night (5 p.m.-FOX) for game six is sunny skies but if the series goes to a final seventh game a rain storm is predicted settle into the Big Apple around Thursday night and could make playing baseball difficult.

I'm sticking with my prediction of the New York Yankees winning the World Series in six games but don't be surprised to see game seven at Yankee Stadium. Chase Utley is carrying the Phillies with his power but it's going to come down to relieve pitching and the Phillies just don't have a closer.

The Phillies have a tough task ahead to repeat as champions because they must go into hostile Yankee Stadium and beat up the "Bronx Bombers" twice after beating them 8-6 on Monday night. The Yankees have lost three in row just twice after the All-Star break and dropped consecutive home games only twice since June.

The television rating are up on the FOX network with Friday's Game 2 receiving it's the highest-rating since the Red Sox-Cardinals in 2004 so sit back and relax, break out the popcorn and drinks and enjoy one the most entertaining October Classics in 11 years.

Kings Korner

The Kings (1-3) thrilled a sold-out home opening crowd of 17,317 at the Arco Arena with 127-116 overtime win over the Memphis Grizzlies. Center Spencer Hawes scored 21 points while grabbing 11 rebounds and dishing out seven assists but it was Kevin Martin who put on an offensive show draining 48 points in the Kings first win of the 2009/10 season.

The Kings lost their first three games on the road getting blown out in Oklahoma City and San Antonio but they did almost pull out a road win in losing 97-92 in New Orleans after Martin missing a last second three point attempt.

The Kings will be home for a few games starting on Wednesday (7 p.m.-CSNCA) against Mike Bibby and the Atlanta Hawks followed by a quick road to Utah on Saturday (6 p.m.-CSNCA) before they return to host their arch rival Golden State Warriors on Sunday (6 p.m.-CSNCA).

NFL Week 9

The 49ers (3-4) lost a courageous 18-14 battle to the undefeated Colts last Sunday in Indy but it's still a loss. Niners are close but no cigar but the good news is Alex Smith looks more comfortable behind the center than I've ever seen the sore arm quarterback since the Niners drafted him three years ago. Smith looked good in the shotgun formation throwing for 198 yards while completing 19 of 32 passes with one touchdown to Vern Davis.

It was great seeing Frank Gore return to action especially after he broke through the middle for a 54-yard touchdown but the offense still needs a major

For the jayvees, it was a 36-0 shutout to continue their winning season.

Local rowing club travels cross-town

From River City Rowing Club

River City Rowing Club Junior Crew raced at the Head of the American regatta held at the Sacramento State Aquatic Center at Lake Natoma on October 24. The morning conditions were ideal for racing with no wind, flat water, and mild temperatures. An afternoon breeze picked up, but did not hinder the racers on the 5 kilometer course.

This was the first race of the season for the RCRC "novice" rowers, which consists of athletes in 8th through 12th grade who practice at the Port of West Sacramento.

The varsity squad was racing for the second time this fall up against very stiff competition from top teams in the nation.

The men's novice team started off the day for RCRC in the 8+ race (8 rowers plus a coxswain). They finished 9th of 12 with a time of 21:25 turned in by Sean Roper (coxswain), Aristo Spanos (stroke), Ethan Hall, Alexander Duleba, James Burns, Sean Callaghan, Sawyer Harris, Joseph Rodgers, and Pranan Trewn.

RCRC was excited to field 3 novice 8+ women's boats in the next race of the day. The boats finished 11th, 13th, and 14th out of a field of 19. Fatima Sy (cox), Amy Platenkamp (stroke), Naomi Hester, Melanie Greenfield, Mikaela Stirling, Louise Stimson, Eleni Spanos, Ciera Neeley, and Nancy Jaime finished in 23:21; Siena Cox (cox), Rachel Schwartz (stroke), Kiera Nocetti, Kristin Yelle, Kate Ely, Claire Coleman, Karyn Meyer, Shelby Sackett, and Hannah Wiscombe finished in 23:40; and, competing with only 7 rowers due to illness, Clair Premzic (cox), Fatuma Ali-Rinderknecht (stroke), Christina Burns, Hailey Nelson, Selene Mujica, Michelle Felmlee-Gartner, Austyn Cromartie, and Allie Premzic finished

PLAYOFF ACTION

All four squads in the 'River City Junior Raiders' youth football team earned their way into the playoffs.

But none of the West Sac squads made it past the first round.

The RCJR 'junior pee wees' lost to the Elk Grove Junior Herd on Saturday; the RCJR 'pee wees' fell to Rosemont; the 'junior midgets' lost to Elk Grove and the 'midget' division players fell to Woodland.

Purkey, Fatima Sy, Juliann Machschefes, Elaine Dana, and Danya Axelrad-Hausman finished in 16th place (20:24) out of a field of 26. They are looking to demonstrate their commitment and focus as the season progresses by moving up in the standings.

The men's varsity 4+ races came next, with RCRC entering 2 boats that finished 9th and 10th out of a field of 13. Led by Oliver Darwish (cox), rowers Chew (stroke), Kohls, Schreier, and Liam Cox finished in 20:02, and only 3 seconds behind them was the boat with Behar (cox), Jacob Machschefes (stroke), Aric Hopkins, John Mark Hopkins, and Evan Roper (20:05).

Two RCRC varsity 4+ boats also entered the women's race, and the team of Monika Darwish, Clair Premzic (stroke), Sage Purkey, Fatima Sy, and Candace Kelly brought home a strong 6th place finish (21:30) while Claire Coleman (cox), Bridget Mazet (stroke), Danya Axelrad-Hausman, Venessa Rivas-Bernardy, and Juliann Machschefes finished 13th in 24:42.

RCRC is about half-way through its fall season. New members are still welcome.

tune-up if the Niners are going to make a push to the playoffs. The 49ers are very predictable on first down-Gore up the middle so their offensive coordinator better start drawing up some plays down field for their speedster Michael Crabtree.

The defensive played well again keeping the mighty Peyton Manning out of the end zone allowing only four field goals but their special teams needs a return man and better tackling on kick offs.

The Raiders (2-6) scored some points in their 24-16 to San Diego but their quarterback problems continue to haunt them. Russell threw for 109 yards and their No. 1 pick wide receiver Darrius Heyward-Bey caught another pass to bring his season total to five catches and a whooping 74 yards with no touchdowns! The Raiders offensive totaled less than 200 yards for the fifth time this season, now that's kind of spooky.

Speaking of haunting, their head coach Tom Cable is doing a good job of keeping the media off his players backs because his Halloween weekend was spent fighting off allegations regarding his violence and physical abuse toward a former girlfriend and former wives. I love and respect Al Davis has the pioneer of professional football but is he awake and paying attention to his "Commitment to Excellence! Good news for Raiders fans because Cable promised the media the Silver and Black would not lose this week and he's absolutely right because the Raiders will be home enjoying their bye week while the Niners (1:15 p.m.-FOX) come home to the friendly confines of Candlestick Park after losing two away games to host the 1-6 Tennessee Titans.

Aztec's Picks

My dog Aztec is what you call a "Hot Dog" especially after winning all five of his weekly picks so now he is wearing a collar with an impressive 26-14 record as he prances into a very tough week. At the midway point the playoff picture in the NFC is getting clearer with the Cowboys, Eagles, Giants, Falcons, Packers, Bears, Cards and 49ers all fighting for Division titles and the elusive wild card spot.

In the AFC, the Chargers, Texans, Bengals, Steelers, Ravens, Jets, Patriots, and Dolphins are all within a game of each other and on the road to Super Bowl XLIV in Miami.

I've been searching the internet for a Casinos that allows dogs to play but I haven't been successful because casinos don't accept county dog tags as a form of ID so I'll just keep my faithful dog close to home and keep watching my NFL Super Fan channel with him.

Anyway, this week Aztec is drooling with his "College Lick of the Week", the Oregon Ducks (-5) at Stanford and in the NFL, this week's picks will be tougher than the old leather shoe he likes chewing on. In Atlanta the Falcons (-9) will swoop on the Redskins, the Niners (-5) will regroup at home against Tennessee and the Tampa Bay Bucs (+10 ½) will try and win their first game of the year against the wounded Packers. On Monday night the Steelers (-3) will visit Denver and tame the Broncos.

Between the Ropes

West Sacramento's transplanted heavyweight Oleg Maskaev (36-6, 27 KO's) will continue his bid to win the World Boxing Council title with a tune up fight scheduled for December 11th against Nagy Aguilera in 10 round main event at the Memorial Auditorium.

The 40-year-old ex-champion from the former Soviet Union, who moved to West Sacramento three years ago, is currently ranked No. 2 by the WBC. If Maskaev wins, he will be in line for a title-elimination bout against the No. 1 contender Ray Austin with the winner to fight for the championship against the current title-holder Vitali Klitschko (38-2, 37 KOs).

Enjoy your day – see ya next week!

Swimming 500 yards successfully

From 'Swim West Sac'

Forty swimmers from 'Swim West Sac' at the West Sacramento Recreation Center completed a 500-yard freestyle swim last Wednesday. The swim had been an "autumn goal" for the swimmers.

Each swimmer received a celebratory pumpkin inscribed with their name and their finish time for the 20-length event.

The pool was decorated with over 60 pumpkins in October. Coach Ross Yancher was allowed to pick them from the Harris Moran Seed Company trial patch. The largest pumpkin – at nearly 200 pounds – went to the event's fastest swimmer, Dale Garland, who finished in 5:42. He is a former competitor at Ball State University.

Fastest woman for the 500-yard event was Jillori Thom (7:35) a former UC Davis swimmer.

Swimmers at the event ranged from eight-year old Samantha Needham to Mark Braly, 74.

Swim groups at the center set monthly goals and work out primarily at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. For more information on the program, email swimwestsac@cal.net or visit www.westsacfun.org under "aquatics."

America's Health Care Crisis

Healthful Diets: A Cure For Obesity And Preventable Chronic Disease

by George Scheele, M.D.

(NAPS)—The more things change, the more they remain the same. Hippocrates said more than 2,000 years ago, "Our food should be our medicine. Our medicine should be our food." The key to cutting health care costs and improving Americans' overall well-being lies in our diets. Yet as government debates health care reform, it's become clear that America's eating habits have become the "elephant in the room."

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, three-quarters of health care spending now goes to treat "preventable chronic diseases." This includes diet-related diseases such as obesity, diabetes, high blood pressure, cardiovascular disease and even certain cancers.

Still, few people talk about the role our food and expanding waistlines play in diet-related health care costs—an expense that tops $1 trillion, according to CDC estimates. Equally alarming, when Americans do try to lose weight, they tend to rely on quick-fix diets that leave them lighter in the wallet but usually heavier in the long run, with increased risks for metabolic disease that hobbles much of the population.

Many of these diets involve caloric restriction and metabolic enhancers (caffeine or ephedra, for instance). Some also add diuretics to drain the body of water or laxatives and cleansing routines to drain the body of waste.

But starvation diets are especially harmful because they put the body into catabolic, destructive or harmful states. Diuretics can harm the kidneys, and laxatives and cleansing routines can deplete the beneficial bacteria that are essential to body growth and repair. Additionally, starvation diets lead to rebounds in body weight, often to levels higher than before. And some diet products are even tainted with illegal substances, prompting the FDA to pull more than 70 products off the market in just one month this year.

Diet-Related Diseases Improved by Factor4 Weight Control® and Power Amino Acids®:

- Obesity
- High blood pressure
- High cholesterol
- High blood sugar
- Type 2 diabetes
- Cardiovascular disease
- Certain cancers
- Kidney disease
- Osteoarthritis
- Gallstones

According to some estimates, more than $1 trillion in health care spending goes to treat chronic diseases that could be prevented with lifestyle changes in diet. Factor4 Weight Control® facilitates these lifestyle changes.

Simply put, despite short-term gains in weight loss, these strategies do not work for the long run.

The only sound solution to obesity lies in achieving significant long-term changes in lifestyle—and primarily in dietary habits—that balance amino acids, proteins and metabolic pathways throughout the body at the expense of excess sugar, salt and fat. This approach also combats many of the metabolic disorders that lead to accelerated aging.

However, such diets should be followed for rest-of-life to provide the lifestyle changes that can rebalance body metabolism. Without lifestyle changes in eating habits, two-thirds of Americans will continue to suffer from addictive taste disorders that lead to increased intake of "processed foods" that contain an overabundance of "empty" calories. All the people who are addicted to these foods become overweight, and half become obese.

But breaking that addiction could be made easier with help from innovative nutritional products. For instance, a new weight-loss approach called Factor4 Weight Control® is formulated with power amino acids® that reset metabolic pathways, helping to burn fat and decrease cravings for the sugar, salt and fat in processed foods. Plus, it has the added bonus of helping to restore energy levels and health in organ systems such as heart, liver and kidneys.

While revamping America's approach to food may seem vexing, the human and financial cost of inaction is unsustainable in today's health care crisis. Obesity and its associated underlying metabolic diseases can lead to diabetes; cardiovascular disease; high levels of blood pressure, cholesterol and sugar; kidney damage; and arthritis. It's also associated with increased risk of cancer, gallbladder disease, gallstones and premature aging seen in wrinkled skin, loss of hair and aging nails.

Many of these metabolic disorders decrease productivity in the workforce as well as body health and life span but could be prevented if we simply stopped avoiding the "elephant in the room."

For more information, visit www.factor4health.com or call (888) 870-3438.

PEOPLE & PETS

How To Adopt That Perfect Pooch

(NAPS)—The holiday season can seem very overwhelming when deciding what to get for that special someone, but for many an adopted shelter dog is the perfect gift. One clear benefit is the gratifying experience associated with saving a dog's life. As reported by the Humane Society, 3-4 million cats and dogs are adopted each year from shelters across the country.

Veterinarian Dr. Ernie Ward, Founder and President of The Association for Pet Obesity Prevention offers several tips for finding and taking good care of any adopted canine.

Choose Wisely

Visit a few local shelters to find one (or several) that keep their animals for adoption in good condition. Many shelters, like the Villalobos Rescue Center in Santa Clarita, CA provide a safe haven for hundreds of dogs that were victims of abuse. The facility earns stellar reviews and has been touted by dog food brands, like Rachael Ray Nutrish, that are known for helping abandoned and mistreated animals. A portion of the proceeds from every bag of Rachael Ray Nutrish is donated to pet charities and other organizations that help animals in need.

The 2 Visit Rule

Once you think you've found the right pet for your family, visit the shelter once more at a different time to monitor the dog's temperament. Many families will take a dog home after the first visit without keeping in mind that dogs can act differently throughout the day. The two visit rule also helps families become accustomed to their potential dog adoptee, making the transition from the shelter to a new home easier on both parties.

Quick Tips for Adopting A Shelter Dog

- Consider adopting from shelters or rescue groups that have earned stellar reviews. PetFinder.com is a good resource for finding a shelter near you.
- Visit a shelter on two different occasions, at different times to monitor your potential dog adoptee's temperament.
- Stock up on a super premium dog food brand, like Rachael Ray Nutrish, a portion of the proceeds from every bag is donated to pet charities and other organizations that help animals in need.
- Create a schedule for walks and feeding, it can foster relationships between your family and the dog and ensures that your pet's needs are met.

Choose the Right Pooch for You

New pooches need lots of love and attention; they also come along with a new batch of dog-related household chores. Look for a dog that fits your lifestyle and gets along with and is best suited for your family. If children live in your home, make sure your new dog is kid-friendly. Also, be sure to consider the amount and type of space you have at home prior to adopting a new dog. A large, active dog kept in a small apartment without space to run and play isn't fair for the dog and can negatively affect their health. This also pertains to smaller dogs such as Jack Russell Terriers that are very active and require a lot of exercise.

Stock Up On Supplies

When stocking up for your pooch make sure super premium dog food is on top of the list. A brand like Rachael Ray Nutrish includes high-quality meat as its main ingredient and is great for almost any dog's diet. It is available in chicken & veggies and beef & brown rice varieties and offers no by-products, artificial flavors or preservatives. Prior to the homecoming, families should stock up on other necessities including leashes, collars, ID tags and crates as well as a few safe and fun dog toys to make the new member of your family feel more comfortable in their new surroundings.

Create a Schedule

Families should share the responsibility of caring for a new dog. Creating a schedule is a great way to get the entire family involved in your pet's care. Families should take turns performing certain duties to ensure and help foster new relationships and strong bonds between the family and the new pet.

Health and Other Benefits for You and Your Dog

There are many health benefits for anyone who adopts or cares for a dog. Older children can enjoy a sense of companionship with the dog, while younger children can learn how to become a responsible pet owner. Whatever the weather, dogs need to be walked and allowed to run around, giving owners that extra motivation to exercise each day. Dogs are proven to lower their owners' blood pressure and stress levels. Plus, dogs show their owners unconditional love, which can be therapeutic for any new pet parent.

Teens pitch in to help, learn leadership skills

By Dell Richards
for the West Sacramento Youth Resources Coalition

Local youth often have little say in their lives. Even when it comes to leisure, they usually have little money or safe places to just spend time with their friends.

Sactown Heroes — a leadership team of youth ages 10 to 18 who are part of the West Sacramento Youth Resources Coalition (WSYRC) funded by a Sierra Health Foundation REACH grant—took things into their own hands this year when it came to the West Sacramento Neighbors Fair October 3.

In her role as WSYRC Youth Engagement Coordinator, Yaminah Bailey, who also is a fair board member, was able to bring the Sactown Heroes into the planning mix during the summer. Because of her leadership, the teens were able to make their voices heard and advocate for things they wanted to see at the annual fair: youth entertainers, a kid's zone and more fun activities for youth.

As a result of their efforts, the Sactown Heroes were able to convince the fair board to:

- bring a youth rock band, Dog Party, to the event,
- get the Bounce Spot to donate a jump house for the younger kids,
- have a kid's zone,
- and a display of antique bicycles as well as a sampling of The Larry Hoover collection of Mexican Masks from Sacramento's La Raza Galeria Posada show.

Sactown Heroes also participated in the parade and served as key volunteers for parking, vendor support and fair monitors as well as fair set-up and tear-down.

Sactown Heroes also had a table with information on local youth resources they had gathered since the formation of the SHF REACH grant coalitions nearly three years ago. About 200 people came to the table.

By the end of take-down, Sactown Heroes had spent nearly 12 hours volunteering for the event that day. Volunteers also attended a one-hour orientation in preparation for the event two days prior.

'Everyone said how wonderful the volunteers were (and) how the youth has shown leadership and courtesy above and beyond their years.'

"It was really successful," said Yaminah Bailey. "We not only had 5,000 people attend the fair, but everyone said how wonderful the volunteers were (and) how the youth has shown leadership and courtesy above and beyond their years.

"The Sactown Heroes worked hard and had a lot of fun, but it was really good for them to get feedback that was so tremendous."

Although many other groups such as the West Sacramento Police and Fire Departments, Bryte and Broderick Community Action Network and Yolo County Library worked to make the event a success, 15 members of Sactown Heroes learned that with some time and effort they could make exciting things happen for youth.

For more information on Sactown Heroes or the West Sacramento Youth Resources Coalition, call Yaminah Bailey at 916. 403.9270 or go to www.westsacyouth.org.

The West Sacramento Youth Resources Coalition is part of Sierra Health Foundation's REACH youth program that supports nine community coalitions. In the past three years, Sierra Health's investment in youth has totaled $8 million and helped better the lives of youth in the region—from Galt to Yuba City/Marysville and El Dorado Hills to Vacaville.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks, Mary

I was saddened to learn of Mary Lasell's passing away. Let's hope someone else steps up to fill her shoes.

Fifteen years ago, the city council's agenda (copies provided to the public) was often a quarter-inch thick, with much more descriptive detail. Today we rarely have more than four pages. Back then we often received direct answers to questions, but no longer, as we are informed that such responses would be in violation of the Brown Act (The Open Meeting Law). So while the last agenda had more specific information than usual, it would seem that if not enough info is provided so the public knows what the city council will be discussing, such practice appears to be bending the Brown Act.

I hope more citizens like Mary Lasell will attend city council and other meetings. We also need more volunteers on city/county advisory committees to help our elected and appointed officials do a better job. You can call the city/county clerk for application forms.

A final note to the friends and relatives of Mary Lasell: She is not totally gone as those memories we have of her have become part of ourselves. Many thanks, Mary.

Thanks, veterans

Veterans Day is once again upon us as veterans on this important day will take time out to reflect and recall their years spent in the military as members of our armed forces. Each veteran has his or her story to tell how they survived on the battle fields of war fighting for the principles of democracy and the freedoms we all enjoy today. A big salute to all the veterans in 2009!

The loss of Mary Lasell

On Thursday, October 22, when I returned from work, I found I'd received an e-mail from a very familiar e-dress, " eyeonwsac@xxxxxxx.com". Upon opening it, I discovered that a husband had lost a wife, a daughter lost her mother, I had lost a very dear friend and the community had lost an advocate of such energy, with such a breadth of community interests, coupled with such an encyclopedic knowledge of the complex dealings of our multilevel government both within this city and it's competitors across our borders, that there was some kernel of truth to the description we used to lovingly apply that, "She knows where the bodies are buried (and may have put a few of them there herself)". Now, I've only known her since I moved here in 1986, having met her at various council meetings, but we didn't become truly good friends until this past year or so when she and I joined in what became known as the Bryte and Broderick Community Action Group (now "BB CAN"), where we served on various committees and the board together.

The loss of anyone is, in it's own way, always a tragedy. In this instance, it could be even more so because, beyond the familial and personal losses, is the loss to this community. She was passionate about so many things having to do with with it; the school district and board; the planning commission; the city hall and it's administration; the parks department; the "compound" as she called The Rivers and it's "Water Storage Facility"; the levee's safety and access; retaining the influence of "We Geezers" (as I put it) in this new community group and not letting the older community's history and direction be lost in the "new, bright and shiny" influences of those who simply do not have the sense of community and history that we long time residents do.

She did all of this and more, while still maintaining a home life balanced with juggling an extremely hectic schedule of meetings and events that were part and parcel of her interests. And she did so almost to the last breath she drew. She did truly give it, and us her all. She will be deeply missed by all who knew her, and impossible to replace with just one individual.

So I issue a challange to this community to come forth to take up the work she dedicated her life to. That, I believe, would be a fitting memorial to her life's work and her place in this community's history and its future.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS

BY DNA SMITH

PICKS OF THE WEEK

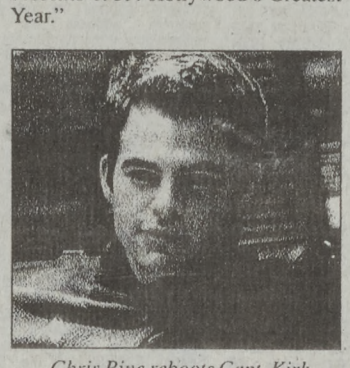
"Star Trek"— In one fell swoop — and the help of a hackneyed time-travel plot device — director J.J. Abrams erases five decades of Trek canon. And because this "reboot" grossed eleventy-billion-trillion dollars, we can count on at least another decade of swish-pans, lens-flares and the angry blogging of disgruntled Trekkies nit-picking every frame.

Since this is a Major DVD Release Event, there are numerous editions and packagings to choose from. I'll be commenting on the two-disc edition, since it'll be the one most fans will probably buy. However, it's worth noting that if you are a huge fan of the film, there is a limited-edition Blu-Ray boxed set with three discs and a massive metal replica of the Enterprise that weighs over a pound. The Replica Gift set retails for $130.

Hokay, back to the two-disc pack. In addition to the film, there is a commentary track with J.J. Abrams, the writers and producers; a documentary on the production and a gag reel. On disc two is a digital copy of the film, a lot of deleted scenes, featurettes about casting, the musical score, alien creation and more behind-the-scenes peeks.

"Gone With The Wind 70th Anniversary Ultimate Collector's Edition" — This collection contains five DVDs, a CD soundtrack, a hardcover 52-page book of photographs and production art, 10 art prints and a reproduction of the original 1939 program all lovingly crammed into velvet box.

With a retail price of $70, the question is, "Is it worth it?" The answer is: If you don't already own, say, the four-disc special edition that came out a while back, then yes it is. If you've already bought that edition there really isn't much new here in terms of content. The only new feature is a documentary hosted by Kenneth Branagh with the unimaginative and obviously made-by-some-marketing wonk-title: "Warner Bros. Home Entertainment Presents 1939: Hollywood's Greatest Year."



Chris Pine reboots Capt. Kirk in "Star Trek"

So, if you're a big fan of the film and don't yet own a copy, this is a great set to own. It's remastered for hi-def TVs, has eight hours of extras and let's not forget that nifty velvet box. Or if you know someone who's a fan, this would make an awesome Christmas gift.

Mashed Potatoes With Onion and Bacon

This entire recipe can be made ahead and reheated in the microwave when ready to serve.

4 slices bacon, chopped
1 large onion, chopped
3 pounds (about 9 medium) all-purpose potatoes, peeled and cut into 1-inch chunks
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
1 cup milk, warmed

1. In 10-inch skillet, cook bacon until browned over medium-low heat. With slotted spoon, remove bacon to paper towels to drain. To bacon fat in skillet, add onion and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until tender, about 15 minutes.

2. Meanwhile, in 3-quart saucepan, heat potatoes, bay leaf and enough water to cover to boiling over high heat. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until potatoes are fork-tender; drain.

3. Return potatoes to saucepan. Discard bay leaf. With potato masher, mash potatoes with salt and pepper. Gradually add milk; mash until mixture is well-blended. Stir in onion and bacon. Makes 8 accompaniment servings.

How to Be a Movie Star: Elizabeth Taylor in Hollywood
by William J. Mann
(Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, $28)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

There's a remarkable story in William J. Mann's new biography of Elizabeth Taylor. While shooting a scene for "Butterfield 8," director Daniel Mann handed his star a couple of eggs and told her to pretend to make breakfast while standing at the stove. Taylor's eyes grew wide. Holding an egg out in each hand, she asked, "But what do I do with them?" She had never made breakfast in her life, nor had she been to a baseball game or school dance that wasn't pre-arranged by the publicity department of MGM.

Mann, who has written several successful Hollywood biographies, draws on personal interviews and access to the private papers of such heavy hitters as Mike Todd, George Stevens, Ernest Lehman, Hedda Hopper, Vincente Minnelli and George Cukor to finally reconcile the real Elizabeth Taylor with the mythical creature behind the hype.

He documents the early rift in the Taylor family that pitted her mother on one side, her father on the other, and young Elizabeth in the middle. The lengths to which her mother went to secure roles for Elizabeth are legendary. For example, one can almost see Mrs. Taylor with her 11-year-old daughter in tow chasing Clarence Brown across the MGM lot in her determination to land Elizabeth the role in "National Velvet."

Mann's book underscores the fact that Elizabeth Taylor is — above all else — a survivor. Through rocky marriages that included an abusive Nicky Hilton, singer Eddie Fisher and actor Richard Burton, her brushes with death and scandals, she simply lived life on her own terms. If she broke rules, challenged authority and slipped in and out of marriages and affairs along the way, so be it.

Perhaps that is why she is so relevant and remains, even after more than half a century, one of this country's most fascinating celebrities.

What To Do When The Turkey Isn't Done

After almost 35 years of cooking, I've had my share of Thanksgiving Day disasters! Here are some secrets to saving your sanity and your Thanksgiving dinner:

HOW TO DEFROST A TURKEY: You'll need at least 24 to 48 hours (about 5 hours per pound) to thaw out a frozen turkey in the refrigerator. If you need to do a quick thaw, place the wrapped, frozen turkey in your kitchen sink or a large container like an ice chest. Cover the turkey with cold water. Drain and refill the water every half hour because as the bird thaws out, the water will get warmer. Using this method, the turkey will thaw at the rate of about a half hour for each pound.

PREPARING THE BIRD BEFORE COOKING: Remove the giblet package (neck, livers, heart and gizzards) from inside the cavity of the bird AND check the neck cavity. Some manufacturers place the giblet package in the neck cavity and others place it inside the cavity closest to the legs.

Most turkeys come with the legs already trussed (crossed and secured with a metal or plastic bracket). If you're not going to stuff your bird, there's no need to truss the legs. Trussing an unstuffed bird hinders the hot oven air from circulating inside and around the legs. This means that the dark meat will take longer to cook and the breast meat will cook faster and probably dry out before the legs ever get completely done.

THE TURKEY ISN'T DONE: Don't rely on the "pop-up" timer in the turkey, as it usually means that the breast is overcooked and the dark meat isn't done. If the dark meat isn't done, remove the wings and breast meat from the rest of the turkey, in one piece, if possible. Cover the breast and wing portion with foil and set it aside. Put the drumsticks and thigh portion of the turkey back into the oven to continue cooking until done. You can re-assemble the whole turkey and garnish it, or just cut it into serving portions and arrange it on a platter.

STUFFING SAVERS: If the stuffing/dressing is too wet, spread it out in a thin layer on a sheet pan so that it will dry quickly. Place it back into the oven for 5 to 7 minutes.

If it's too dry, add more pan drippings or chicken broth to the mixture.

If you don't have any more drippings or broth, you can combine a chicken bouillon cube (if you have one), along with a teaspoon of poultry seasoning, three tablespoons of butter and 1 cup of water. Cook the mixture in the microwave for 3 to 5 minutes or until it comes to a boil. Stir to combine and then add it, a little at a time, to the dressing until it's moist.

SOUPY MASHED POTATOES: You can add unseasoned dry breadcrumbs to soupy mashed potatoes to absorb any excess liquid.

GRAVY RESCUE TIPS: If the gravy is lumpy, pour it through a strainer into a new pan and bring it to a simmer, stirring gently. If it's too thin, mix a tablespoon of melted butter with a tablespoon of flour. Bring the gravy up to a boil and whisk in the butter mixture to thicken your gravy. If the gravy is too thick, add a little more chicken broth, pan drippings or a little water and butter to thin it out.

BURNT OFFERINGS: If the turkey begins to burn while it's roasting, flip the bird over immediately and continue to cook it. After the turkey is done, you can remove and discard any blackened skin and about half an inch of the meat below any burnt area. Slice the remaining breast meat, arrange it on a platter and ladle gravy over it.

If your vegetables or gravy burn on the bottom, carefully remove the layer that isn't burned into another pot or serving dish. DON'T SCRAPE THE BOTTOM OF THE PAN.

If the dinner rolls are burned on the bottom, just cut off as much as you can, butter them, and fold them in half to cover the missing ends.

Whipped cream is the perfect "make-up" for desserts that aren't quite up to par. You can cut the top layer off a burnt pie and cover it with whipped cream.

Hopefully, these tips will rescue you from any Thanksgiving Day disasters, but remember it's about gathering together to give thanks with the people you love, not the perfect meal! Have a blessed Thanksgiving!

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

Hay thief skips restitution, heads to jail

The Yolo County District Attorney's office announced last week that a convicted hay thief will receive four years in prison after failing to make restitution payments to a victim.

Dale Edward McMihelk was convicted in February, 2008, of stealing over $150,000 in hay from a Yolo County farmer. Judge David Rosenberg placed him on probation with orders to pay $211,000 in restitution to the victim.

"Since then, McMihelk paid only $2,800 in payments to the victim, despite the fact that tax records revealed that McMihelk had gross income of $631,000 in 2008. On Thursday, Judge Rosenberg found McMihelk in violation of his probation and sentenced him to prison," said the D.A.'s office.

"It is particularly offensive that Mr. McMihelk continued to walk free and cheat the victim of his lawfully entitled restitution for years after his original crimes," said Deputy District Attorney Rob Gorman in a press release. "The prison sentence in this case finally sends a clear message that serious agricultural crimes will not be ignored or trivialized in our county."

move into a new unit nearby when the fire broke out and demolished their home. So they weren't rendered homeless. But they were without enough clothes and other household supplies to pick up where they left off.

Katie Villegas of West Sacramento wanted to help. Using her web page on the social networking site Facebook, she put out a plea for clothing sized to fit the family members, and for other goods they might need.

Said her husband, City Councilman Oscar Villegas: "Katie posted a request on her Facebook page, which is seen by mostly West Sacramento people. Within a matter of minutes, people were responding, saying 'I've got clothes that fit, I've got shoes, I've got jackets.' Our front room began to fill up with clothes, shoes, a color television – really nice stuff. When you lose things in a fire you don't think about everything you need."

The Villegas helped get the goods to Ramos, Calva, and their family.

"The Grocery Outlet gave them a $100 gift certificate, somebody else went out and purchased a $100 certificate to Target, and their kids received bicycles," said Oscar Villegas. "When I went by thir home yesterday, they seemed to be pretty well set. (Maricela) said 'we actually think we have everything we need.'"

The two parents don't speak English, but through son Edgar, they told the News-Ledger yesterday that they would like to "thank everybody for helping them."

Is there anything else the family needs?

One thing, said Edgar. He lost a pair of prescription glasses in the fire. The family could use some help replacing them.

Anyone who can help is invited to contact Oscar and Katie Villegas at 375-1132.

West Sac man convicted

A jury convicted 43-year old Anthony Gino Roman of one felony count of "resisting a police officer in the performance of his duties by use of force or violence," reports the Yolo County District Attorney's office.

According to the D.A.'s office, police went to Roman's West Sacramento home on April 24. Residents were "afraid" of Roman, who had been behaving "erratically." He refused to put his hands in the air when ordered by officers, and instead put them in his pockets, refusing to show them. A resident yelled that Roman had a knife. When police tried to take him into custody, said the D.A's office, Roman became violent.

He is on probation for a similar charge in 2004, when he used brass knuckles in a fight with West Sacramento police while under the influence of methamphetamine, said the D.A.'s office.

Roman is scheduled to be sentenced on Dec. 1. He faces up to three years and eight months in state prison.
